INTRODUCTION
The existence of literature creation in societies brought significant influences toward life dynamic. Values contained in literature creation if these were searched deeply that should implicate toward the power of human essence. Behavior and life ethics done by societies consciously or not were the manifestation from an active literature creation around societies therefore definitively literature creation was reflection from societies’ activities. According to this, literature creation was the part of culture.

Literature and culture were two knowledge disciplines which have the same authority in doing study to humanity. Literature itself was to do study toward the social life phenomenon through creator subjects called author. This was same as with culture which was resulted by author creator subjects but the creator of culture was society itself. Besides that, literature appeared through creative process of author who collaborated between creativity and imagination but based on the fact happened in societies. This was different with the Process of Culture which was not through the author creator process; culture appeared from the agreement of societies continually that still became paradigm in life process.

Besides that, the literature intrinsic difference and culture was not the obstacle to combine two indications to become the knowledge. According to Ratna (2010: 18) that the most important thing in literature relation and culture was studied was the same objects that were human and societies, researched trough paradigm, methodology, theory, and the different method.

According to this problem, poem that became one of the literature creation genres was known having culture values, one of them was ideology. Individually and collectively, ideology in daily social activities was also the entity from a conservative society dogma. Contemporary society has the responsibility to know the culture of ideology. Word Greece “hermeneios” referred to the wise clergyman, Delphic. Word hermeios and verb which was general “hermeneutic” and noun hermeneia was associated on Dewa Hermes, these are the words coming from.

According to George Gadamer, Hermeneutics was meant as the guidance collection about how to understand and interpret therefore the real hermeneutics philosophy was the theoretical testing of the criteria of that hermeneutics philosophy.
